Commendation for [redacted]

[redacted] Pittsburgh had come to JOT

1. [redacted] is deserving of special commendation for the manner in which he assisted this staff in the period 28 December 1955 - 6 January 1956.

2. The work to be done was pulling of files and preparing them for retirement to a holding area. It was monotonous, uninspiring, and although physically tiring, provided no mental stimulus. In spite of this, [redacted] exhibited unfailing good humor and patience, completing an outstanding volume of work. He and his co-worker, [redacted], exercised initiative in working out simplified procedures and in suggesting additional ways in which they could be helpful.
